

RV Insurance Explained

RV Insurance is essential for Recreational Vehicle owners to protect them from the cost of repairs and liabilities due to unexpected accidents associated with the RV.

01

RV insurance covers motor homes (Classes A, B and C), motor coaches, camper vans and travel trailers.

02

The insurance protects the RV, personnel boarding it, and valuables in it.

03

The insurance may also covers towable RVs such as toy haulers, travel trailers, truck campers, folding camper trailers, pop-ups and fifth wheel travel trailers.

04

The coverage options include emergency expenses, medical payments, comprehensive and collision options, bodily injury, property damage liability, roadside assistance and more.
